SHOOT ME NOW

Famous yoghurt eaters. Maybe.
Julian Assange.

Julian was a pretty typical kid. He spent a lot of his time on Magnetic Island with a fishing rod in his hands. But after he turned 16, he gave up angling for surfing and became, well, hooked on cyberspace.

Sitting at his computer, late into the night, Julian sustained himself with plentiful quantities of yoghurt.

Of course, when you don't know whether you're spending the next night in England or Sweden (or several years in the USA), it's not easy keeping a pot of your favourite yoghurt handy.

So Geoffrey Robertson QC, has cut short his Sydney holiday and flown to London with emergency supplies.

And regards from Kevin, of course.

Vicious Narcissus

A man with a shaved head, wearing red briefs, is posing on a sandy beach. He is holding a camera in his right hand and has his left hand raised. In the background, there is a beach with other people, a camera crew with tripods, and a coastline with buildings and a hill under an overcast sky.
